

Publications Project Considerations

In determining whether a publication project should be undertaken or discontinued, the following factors will be weighed:

1. The degree to which the publication responds to the aims outlined in the Publications Mission Statement (Section 6.1-A);
2. The timeliness of the material;
3. The anticipated size of the market;
4. The anticipated net return;
5. The extent to which other publications already satisfy the need, and;
6. Such other factors as may bear upon the importance of the project in furthering the aims of - ARRL.